

Epi deLeon grew up in Clayton, CA. He attended UC Berkeley and Majored in Molecular and Cellular Biology. While there, he received the 1992 Outstanding Volunteer award at SF General Hospital. He attended USC School of Medicine. He went on to do an internship and his residency at St. Mary's medical Center in San Francisco. After training, Epi joined Rossmoor Medical Associates in 2002, and helped build their clinic in 2005. He also served in an administrative role in Skilled Nursing Facilities and with Hospice. He is the father of two teen boys who are excellent swimmers and he enjoys plants and chess in his spare time.